

Catherine Pennock, PhD has worked in the field of special education for almost twenty years. She has held various positions during her career, including working as a psychologist, CSE chairperson and special education administrator. Dr. Pennock's passion focuses on providing equitable opportunities for all students, with a focus on disproportionality in school discipline systems.

Dr. Pennock earned her Bachelor of Science in Psychology and her Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy from Syracuse University. She earned her Masters and CAS in School Psychology from the College of St. Rose. She earned a second Masters and her doctorate in Educational Policy and Leadership from the University at Albany.