August 18, 2020
Email from NYSED Office of Special Education

The New York State Education Department (NYSED), Office of Special Education is sharing the following resource provided by the Collaboration for Effective Educator Development, Accountability, and Reform (CEEDAR) Center, a nation technical assistance center funded by the U.S. Department of Education’s Office of Special Education Programs. The CEEDAR Center, is designed to help state educational agencies, institutes of higher education and local educational agencies create aligned professional learning systems that provide teachers and leaders effective opportunities to learn how to improve core and specialized instruction in inclusive settings that enable students with disabilities to achieve college and career ready standards. This resource is provided for informational purposes only and does not constitute NYSED endorsement. Please be aware that websites listed may change. The information provided is true and complete to the best of our knowledge.

The Family Guide to At-Home Learning has practical strategies that work for helping children of all ages who may be struggling with an at-home learning task. Families may find these strategies useful when helping their children complete various reading, math, and/or behavioral tasks at home.

Confidentiality Notice

This email including all attachments is confidential and intended solely for the use of the individual or entity to which it is addressed. This communication may contain information that is protected from disclosure under State and/or Federal law. Please notify the sender immediately if you have received this communication in error and delete this email from your system. If you are not the intended recipient you are notified that disclosing, copying, distributing or taking any action in reliance on the contents of this information is strictly prohibited.